In honor of Women’s History Month Emory Women’s Center presents

An Evening with Helen Thomas

UNCOMPROMISING, IRREVERENT, AND UNPARALLELED

Known as “The First Lady of the Press,” former White House Bureau Chief Helen Thomas broke through barriers for women reporters while covering every President since John F. Kennedy. During that first White House assignment she began closing presidential press conferences with “Thank you, Mr. President.”

For 57 years, Helen was White House correspondent for United Press International. She joined Hearst Newspapers as a syndicated columnist in 2000. Helen remains an outspoken and formidable reporter and social critic, whose perspective on past administrations sheds an invaluable light on the present and future of American politics and policy.

Helen Thomas has written three books, including her latest, Thanks for the Memories, Mr. President: Wit and Wisdom from the Front Row at the White House.

Tuesday, March 30, 2004, 7:30 pm
Tull Auditorium of Gambrell Hall
Reception and book signing to follow in Hunter Atrium

Co-sponsored by Department of Women’s Studies Jessica Glasser Memorial Lecture, Hightower Lecture Fund, Emory Law School, Office of Governmental and Community Affairs, President’s Commission on the Status of Women at Emory, and the Journalism Program

For more information, call 727-2001 or email jlwil4@emory.edu.
For a complete calendar of Women’s History Month events, go to www.emory.edu/WOMENS_CENTER.