"Resisting Partial Victories"

Evelynn M. Hammonds began her tenure as Dean of Harvard College on June 1, 2008. Prior to this appointment, she served as Harvard University's first senior Vice Provost for Faculty Development and Diversity beginning in July 2005.

Hammonds joined the Faculty of Arts and Sciences in 2002 after teaching at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT), where she was the founding director of the Center for the Study of Diversity in Science, Technology and Medicine. She is most recently the author of "The Nature of Difference: Sciences of Race in the United States from Jefferson to Genomics" and several other books and scholarly articles.

Date: Thursday, April 12th, 2012
Time: 4:00 pm
Place: Joseph W. Jones Room
Robert W. Woodruff
Library 3rd floor

Presented by The Departments of African American Studies &
Women's, Gender and Sexuality Studies

For additional information, please contact 404-727-6847 or aas.emory.edu. This event is free and open to the public. Reception to follow.